

Itoro Akpan-Iquot is a web developer with over 10 years of experience, both professionally (he has worked on various websites in the corporate world), and personally (he runs a freelancing company, Ace Web Solutions, a company he established in 2005 which has developed over 40 websites to date).

Born in Stillwater, Oklahoma, Itoro returned to Nigeria with his parents when he was 7 and while there, attended Auntie Margaret International Nursery School, Calabar, St. Patrick's College, Calabar, Federal Government College, Ikot Ekpene and the University of Calabar (Agricultural Economics: 1991 – 1993) where he was the President of the Year 1 students of the Faculty of Agriculture. In 1993, Itoro returned to the U.S to continue his university education

Itoro is active within the Akwa Ibom Community in Atlanta, serving as the AKISAN chapter's Publicity Director as well as the chapter Treasurer for Mboho Mkpawara Ibibio.

In 2008, Itoro was given the task of revamping AKISAN's website to meet modern standards, one of which was to enable members register online for conventions. Boasting of 400+ online registrants, last year over $8,000 was raised online through online convention registration. In the last 12 months alone, akisan.org has been visited by over 7,000+ unique visitors from 100+ countries and 49 of the 50 U.S. states.

Other websites, geared towards the Akwa Ibom Community, he has developed include: akwaibomnewsonline.com, myibibio.com, mbohousa.org, eketusa.org, africanchildrensfund.org, akwaibomatlanta.org, akwaibomnewyork.org and ibompeoplescongress.org to mention but a few.

A graduate of the Georgia Institute of Technology (B.Sc. Computer Science), Itoro resides in Riverdale, Georgia with his wife and 3 children, and enjoys reading, as well as playing soccer and table tennis.